

Biodiversity is all around us - even in the winter!

Blue Jay

Dark-eyed Junco

Northern Cardinal

Backyard Birding

Bundle up and help the MFN Lands Department document biodiversity in our own neighbourhood!

Its simple! Here are the steps:

1. Head out into your backyard or go for a walk in your neighbourhood. Don't forget a notebook and a pencil!
2. Observe your surroundings. Pay attention to trees, shrubs and roof tops. Try to move slowly and quietly.
3. Record what you see! Not sure what type of bird you are looking at? Just record what you can, like size, beak shape, and colour. Even better - take a picture!
4. Let the Lands Department know what you saw! Email Jessica Zadori at j.zadori@michipicoten.com.

Want to make recording your observations easier? Email us and we can provide a pre-made checklist!